Dignity and Impudence

Largely Attended Mass Meeting Probes 109th Street
Subway Contract

Action of the City Council in letting the contract for the Ninth Street subway, which will cost over $20,000 in excess of the lowest tender, was condemned by a largely attended mass meeting of citizens in the Queen's Avenue school, Wednesday evening.

The meeting, which raised the question of the various tenders and the qualifications of the respective contractors, was so dead set against the action of the council that it threatened to develop into a wordy battle of personalities.

Joe Clarke and J. McGregor Smith, members of the council, were in a long chase with resolutions, the latter moving that the action of the council be rescinded and the contract approved. This was beaten on a show of hands, and a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, was to the effect that the refusal of Mr. D. Tredway's tender, a man who had given his qualifications on his ability as a contractor and on his financial standing.

Mr. Tredway, a contractor,

A further resolution that where the tenders were submitted, and the difference between that tender and the second lowest, is sufficient to indicate that the two lowest tenders, new tenders, should be rejected.

Major A. U. G. O. Bury outlined the course they did in passing up the Tredway tender, which was $19,924 below the second lowest tender.

The Law as to Seizure.
By a decision in the local police court, an automobile is declared to be liable to confiscation, no matter who is driving it, if the occupants are found in possession of liquor in a container which has been opened. That looks like hard law for the owner of cars, and for those who rent or lend automobiles to other people. But had the decision been the other way the law might about as well be abandoned. If a car could only be seized if the owner were in charge, how often would the police find the owner in charge when they swooped down upon a roadside drinking party?

The "Cow Bill" Deficit.

The best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft agley." Hon. George Houlden reports that the Livestock Encouragement Act, otherwise and better known as the "Cow Bill," left the province an inheritance of a half million dollars, due but uncollected from farmers whom the previous government backed not wisely but well in an effort to put both the farmers concerned and the livestock industry on their feet.

The cow bill was conceived in a praiseworthy desire to help farmers who had cows, and needed cows, to get them. Evidently the provisions for extending the credit of the province were more successful in operation than the provisions for making the borrowers pay their notes or recoup the province when it had to pay.

At the "Cow Bill" was no dismal failure, nor is it a chief claim to remembrance that some farmers who got accommodation failed to liquidate the loans. The bulk of the money borrowed was repaid by the borrowers, and the unpaid balance must be presumed to represent the inability of the ministry, not their dishonesty.

Fighting Subsidized Freight Rates.

Some Alberta members at Ottawa oppose the reduction of freight rates in the Maritime provinces, on the ground that laying the losses out of the Dominion treasury will be paying into the pockets of the railroads.

There is no use quibbling about terms. That is not it and it is not in chief claim to remembrance that some farmers who got accommodation failed to liquidate the loans. The bulk of the money borrowed was repaid by the borrowers, and the unpaid balance must be presumed to represent the inability of the ministry, not their dishonesty.

The Dominion is buying lower freight rates for the Maritime provinces just as thirty years ago it bought lower freight rates on wheat for the benefit of the Western farmer. That precedent might suggest that representatives of Western farmers are hardly the ones most obnoxious to the idea of a reduction. Wheat-growing could not have been profitably in Alberta without the Crows Nest freight rates.

Maritimers claim, and a Royal Commission has confirmed it, that the chief interests upon which the people of the far east coast depend cannot see any economy unless they are enabled to sell their products in the markets of central Canada by substantial reductions in rates. The concession to the Maritimers is precisely as justifiable as was the former concession to the West, and is evidently just as easily needed.

It might also have occurred to the Alberta members that the people in a very large section of the province of Alberta are confronted by a railway situation for which the one practicable solution is the payment of subsidies.

After the report of the engineers nothing seems to be much more certain than that lower freight rates cannot be secured for the settlers in the Peace River country by building a railway through the mountains to the Pacific ports. The alternative is to use the railway system which is already in existence, which extends to the west of the Rockies, and which evidently needs either high freight rates or subsidies to get in enough money to pay operating expenses, to say nothing about interest on the invested capital.

The imposition of higher freight rates would meet the case, because it would kill traffic and hide the settlers, but the subsidies of Alberta would be compelled to pay both operating losses and interest on capital put into the E. and B. C. system, the Dominion will have to come to their relief with cash bonuses for the Peace River railway system.

There is perfectly good ground on which to urge that such bonuses should be paid. But

Mr. Kennedy and his associates cannot now say that, if they have any regard for consistency or for the dignity of having fought for rates possible to the settlers in the Maritime provinces, they are bound to also fight the payment of subsidies to make reasonable freight rates possible to the settlers of Peace River.

Mary's Mother

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Mary's mother used to say: "All should Mary want to work? All she'll want while she shall live. And when she's old and can't work, when this young woman comes along, when she's young and looks round. Always Mary's mother frowned."

Mary wants a home to live in. She wants some windows of her own. Before her young heart has flown. "We'll have a home," she said.

Mary's mother held her fast. As the years years passed on. Now the crease is on the door. And the mother said has flown. "I have a home," she said.

Mary's mother comes to call. Mary has her mother things. "I have a home," she said. But no joy can supply. For her mother drained them dry.

Mary's mother died and went. Mary's mother died and went. Left the house her youth had known for a cottage all her own.

Mary's mother died and went. Mary's mother died and went. Left the house her youth had known for a cottage all her own.

Lonely and uncomended.

Capital Punishment

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Henry Ford the other day brought up again the question of capital punishment.

He said: "I don't believe it is right to kill a man who is not good. It doesn't reform him, and he doesn't reform it does society any good."

Opponents of capital punishment say that as a punishment it is not effective, that it does not serve to vindicate the law, and that it is not a deterrent to crime. Those in favor of capital punishment do not say that.

This thing of inflicting the extreme penalty upon a man is a practical one. It is not based upon compassion, but upon the fact that it is supposed to deter others from serious crimes.

INTERNATIONAL AUTO MEETING BEING PLANNED

NEW YORK, April 5.—Major H. O. D. Segrave, the Briton who broke the world's speed record in his 1925 tour of Canada, plans to return to the United States next year to lead a team of English drivers and meet the annual meeting of the Automobile Club of Indianapolis and elsewhere.

That was his plan yesterday, after having been bidden the hand of Daytona Beach, Fla., for the last hour.

He said, "I, for one, have a better theoretical and engineering practice. But then, we make cars to sell, not to race."

A prediction that the majora record will be broken by an American-built machine was voiced, however, by his student friend, Major H. G. L. Guinness, president of an English association, as he left with the speed king.

The "Mystery Girl" also attended.

The meeting, to be held in England, is to be held in the hold of the ship and was brought to a place in a museum in England.

The total value of United States fruits in that year was $4,000,000 and Canada was the principal customer.

UNIVERSITY ACTIVITIES

The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Lord Lister, the father of modern surgery, was celebrated at the University of Medicine at a public meeting held in Convocation Hall yesterday. Dr. J. J. MacLeod gave a lecture on "Lord Lister, His Life and Work." Dr. J. J. MacLeod of the Department of physiology of the University, Dr. J. J. MacLeod on "The place of Physiology in Medicine," Dr. J. J. MacLeod, Dr. George Eberle and Dr. J. J. MacLeod were Prof. Dr. MacLeod on "The place of Physiology in Medicine," Dr. J. J. MacLeod was Prof. Dr. MacLeod on "The place of Physiology in Medicine," Dr. J. J. MacLeod and the two sciences are closely related. Dr. MacLeod in his lecture, "The contributions to medicine in the field of physiology by men trained in physiology. A thorough review of the physiology and biology of the human body, the study and treatment of certain diseases, and the place of physiology in medicine." Dr. MacLeod's training in physiology and endocrinology, his father's discoveries to the field of medicine, which has saved more lives than any other, and the place of physiology in the preparation of the world's medical profession.

Prof. MacLeod discussed several advances of medical science in the field of endocrinology and endocrinology. The discoveries relate to a group of diseases which were made in Prof. MacLeod's department at Toronto. The place of physiology in medicine, knowledge of the essential part played by the human body in the growth up of capitalism and the exacts have been exploited. There has been a great deal of work done by untrained people who have tried to make a living in this field of his sphere.

Col. MacLeod gave a very interesting account of the life of Lord Lister, who, by his discoveries in the field of surgery, has been one of the greatest benefactors of man.

During the winter it was pointed out that two local doctors had had operations on their eyes to correct theiropia. His Honor Lieut.-Gov. Dr. E. G. Smith, who was a member of the Royal Canadian Rifles, was one of his earliest patients. Dr. MacLeod said that the railroads had also been present at the operations.

Besides the Edmonton Academy Medical School, a large number of medical students and others interested in science were present.

"Interests" Behind Gold Rush

These two little "interests" were active in the discovery of gold at Weepah, Nev. They are the 1-month-old twin children of Mrs. Frank Morton, whose son, Frank, Jr., 19, was one of the discoverers of gold. The twins, Bobbie and Dick, furnished the motive.

Shall He Drop College to Marry the Girl He Loves or Stay and Graduate?—Advice to Prisoner-Wife Whose Husband is a Sailor—Why a Boy Who Marries at Eighteen Dooms Himself to Poverty and Unhappiness

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young man torn between love and ambition. I am in love with a girl, but I am still in college and will not be graduated until next year. Shall I marry her and give up getting an education?—Worried but not myself.

TOMMY.

Answer: My deepest advice to you, Tommy, is to put your education first, with your ambition second. There are many reasons why this is the best course to pursue.

In the first place, love will wait, but opportunity will not. If that girl really loves you, she will wait. If she doesn't, her husband will stand the strains of married life in misery, and you will give up your chance of getting an education to support him, it is gone forever.

You will have to descend to a lower level of life. You will have to take the job you can get, and you will have to work harder than the average man to do the thing you want to do. Perhaps you have to do what nature never intended you to do, and that will mean that you will not only be a failure in life but that you will always be discontented and unhappy.

Furthermore, in the struggle between love and ambition, wisdom always scores the final knockout.

I have known many men and women who gave up their careers in order to marry some one who merely thought they had a right to live. They have known very few of these marriages to turn out well. Nearly always the love of the wife for the husband is not strong enough to sustain the wife's satisfaction and misery and marriage ends in the fact that they have paid too high a price for their romances.

Do not think that you are choosing the girl while a great love affair is still in progress. You are choosing her while she is still in love. A great glow of devotion would be to go on and make yourself worthy of her by showing that you have the ability to continue your romance.

"All for love and the world will lose" is a fine, reasoning poise for the sentimental, but it doesn't bear the test of actual everyday experience. The girl who loves you will be a good wife, but Juliet have to be fed and clothed and warmed and sheltered. It is sadly true that the girl who loves you will not be a good wife, and that only those married as happy in which cases can give living proof of the truth of this statement.

So put marriage out of your thoughts until you are ready for it. If the girl loves you, she will wait. If she doesn't, she will leave you, and if she isn't interested enough in your ambitions to sacrifice something for them, she would make you a poor husband.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am 25 years old, the mother of two years old, and live in a lonely home, but I am a prisoner in it. My husband has forsaken me, and I am alone. I have no money, and I am not permitted to speak to my next door neighbor. When I go to the grocery store, the manager asks me to leave, and when I go to the post office, my husband says that if I had good clothes I would be gone within the time.

For years I have stayed within my own walls. No church, no companionship, until I am a physical and mental wreck. At times I think of suicide, but I have a little girl to live for. I am not worthy to be part of my little one, when I love deeply. What shall I do? Perseverance has failed. Kindness has failed. Good works and the love of every doctor and nurse has failed. I have seen no pleasure and freedom in my life—have failed. What CAN I do?

MARITAL PRISONER.

Answer: Break out of your prison. Free from it at once. No woman in the world should endure such treatment.

What is a home where you are physically comfortable and well fed if it is not a prison? You are a prisoner in your home, but you are a prisoner in the world, no matter how hard you have to work to support yourself. You are a prisoner in your mind, and that only those married as happy in which cases can give living proof of the truth of this statement.

And any effort will give you your children when it relates to the story of your wages and of your husband's income conduct.

DOROTHY DIX.

I am in a state of mind, fearing a husband until she has tried every way to get him to marry her. She says that a wife should overlook many faults and even stand a lot of bad treatment. She says that she has been married to a man who was a slave to conduct slavery or to be deprived of all the ordinary, human associations. She says that she has been deprived of the pleasure from his wife's life it is time for her to get up and leave.

TRROUBLED DAD.

Answer: I wish that it would take a surgical operation on your son's head to put any common sense into it, for evidently he has shut his mind against all arguments and is bent on running to destruction.

It is useless to tell him that at 18 he knows his own mind or has the right to make his own decision. He is a boy, and you can't tell him what to do. Get a man as wise as this to talk to him, and if he is still obstinate, then when a wise man speaks on him, let him give in to his sense and if he still refuses, then you can't do anything.

Perhaps you tell the girl that you will not help support her you can keep her from rushing into this disastrous marriage. But any girl of 22 who is willing to marry a boy of 18 has a few less sense than that he has.

Poor, foolish, misguided creatures, weeping that Her Majesty believes they are ever begin! Of such are the dreams come, and the world.

DOROTHY DIX.

I also contracted for the job, stated it to the Tredway bond had been in order to which Engineer Haddow replied that it was.

"But you didn't get the contract," asked Mr. Foley.

"I know," replied Mr. Foley, "but you must understand that the protection of the bond was the only guarantee I had to take."

After the gathering ended,

Mr. Foley gave a reason for recommending that the bond contract be passed up by the contractors. He believed the price of $167,872 inadequate for the work, and the contractors had submitted an aggregate sum of $189,160.

In fact, the aggregate sum of $241,298, almost a spread of $50,000, was submitted. Foley did not think the most tender had sufficient experience to undertake the work, and the nature demanded to undertake in an expert manner.

Answer: Mr. Foley.

The engineer explained to him that he did not understand the concrete and steel work, and that he was not qualified to make a judgment. Mr. Foley, however, was confident in Mr. Quigley's qualifications to do the work.

Mr. Quigley was not satisfied with the work desired, and Haddow declared,

120 Miles on Two Gallons of Gas

Automobile Industry in New Western Ontario, Neb.—An astounding new invention now makes it possible for autos to run 120 miles on two gallons of gas. Besides the miraculous gasoline, the device also removes the coldness of motor instantly in any weather. It is a simple device that prevents carbon, eliminates spark plug troubles, saves oil and repairs and reduces the cost of gas. It is reported to go 40 to 60 miles on one gallon of gas. The inventor, Mr. Joseph Adair, acted as chairman.

REACTION IN WHEAT PRICES

RANGE IN GRAIN PRICES

By James Richardson & Sons

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET

WINNIPEG, April 7.—Absence of outside interest and a dropping off in demand generally brought about a small reaction on the Winnipeg grain exchange today. There was a slight upturn in the market, which was the season when the market bulged temporarily on the strength of higher prices. The average wheat prices were from 5-8 to 7-8 cent lower levels on the course grain markets, rice undergoing the most drastic reaction. The market in cash grain business was at a standstill.
